2. Development of Utah's Future Workforce for Economic Development

A workforce that is well-educated, well prepared, and available to meet the challenges of tomorrow's job market is vital to the economic success of Utah businesses and Utah residents. While a quality education is a key economic development driver, connecting education, workforce, and future job growth industries requires foresight. The committee will hear from Utah businesses on their workforce needs and ideas for development of Utah's future workforce. The committee will also learn about workforce development efforts of the Governor's Office of Economic Development.
